Study abroad in high school.

FLEX GLOBAL ABROAD

FLEX Global Abroad is a program of the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs implemented by American Councils for International Education in partnership with AFS-USA and Amideast.

STUDY ABROAD FOR A YEAR on the U.S. Department of State's FLEX Global Abroad academic year program in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Georgia, India, Indonesia, Kazakhstan, Morocco, North Macedonia, Poland, Romania, and Thailand.

American high school students and recent graduates explore a new country, broaden their perspectives, and develop language abilities by living with a host family, studying in a local school, and participating in leadership activities. FLEX Global Abroad students share information about America with their hosts and local communities while building lasting relationships, strengthening the linkages between the U.S. and FLEX Global Abroad countries at the same time.

Young Americans who are currently enrolled in high school and are eager to immerse themselves in a new culture are encouraged to apply.

By participating in FLEX Global Abroad, you will develop leadership, language, and professional skills. Your worldview will expand and you will gain a new, lifelong network of friends and family overseas. All of this can give you a competitive edge that helps turn your academic and career aspirations into reality.

The U.S. Department of State reserves the right to amend the country list at any time.
